

Medical Director's Message

On behalf of T. S. Misra Medical College & Hospital Amausi, Lucknow, I extend my warm greetings. With over 42 years of my life spent in the public health sector, I can confidently say that careers in medical sciences are one of the most challenging yet noble and rewarding careers that a person can pursue in his or her lifetime. My life experience also leads me to believe that successful doctors and researchers aren't just people with deep technical expertise but also those that display the finest traits in human beings —ethics, compassion and selflessness.

T. S. Misra Medical College & Hospital is built with this vision in mind. We wish to groom promising students of today into successful practitioners of tomorrow. We wish to impart not just the finest technical expertise but we also want to motivate students to yield this expertise for the greater good cause and for the service of humanity. Whether you are an aspiring doctor or a Bio Medical researcher, TSM's academic faculty and hospital facilities will arm you with the skills needed to spread your wings in India and abroad.

I hope that we will join together in this journey and take determined steps towards a bright future. Though, it will not be easy, but we all will work at every step in this journey.

(Dr. R.S. Dubey)
